The period of processing of your data depends on the purpose in which the data are collected and processed, provisions of the law or rules adopted by ING AKTYWA, pursuant to methods or models compliant with the regulations, as well as your consents and other statements. We process data connected with:

- a) the agreement – over the term of the agreement and, after termination thereof, until expiry of the period of limitation of claims under the agreement and deadlines governing the processing of personal data resulting from the law or your consents;
- b) another legal activity – over the time necessary for handling of the application, preparation for execution of the given activity and, if the activity becomes effective – over the time required for performance thereof. If the activity does not become effective, data are processed for 3 years after data collection or longer if another period of personal data processing results from the law or your consent;
- c) archival data – after expiry of the given legal relationship (e.g. an agreement), personal data concerning the activities of those persons on behalf of the entrepreneur, institution or organisational units are processed for 6 years, whereas the remaining personal data of natural persons are processed for up to 6 years unless provisions of the law foresee a different term. In case of pending litigation, judicial procedure or other proceedings (including in particular criminal proceedings), the archiving period will be counted from the date of legally effective conclusion of the litigation and, in case of numerous litigations, legally effective conclusion of the last of them – irrespective of the manner of termination, unless provisions of the law foresee a longer term of data archiving or a longer period of limitation for claims/right covered by the proceedings;
- d) a judicial ruling – data may be processed for up to 6 years after issuance of a legally valid ruling ending the proceedings;
- e) the Salesperson's consent – over the time identified in the consent statement and in each case – until withdrawal of the consent.

The above periods are not cumulative. Data may be processed separately, depending on particular purposes and legal bases.

IX. Know your rights towards ING AKTYWA.

- a) You have the right to request ING AKTYWA to provide you with access to the personal data concerning yourself and the right to correct the data if they do not reflect the actual condition and, moreover, in the cases foreseen in the law, to have the data deleted or to restrict processing of data.

- b) You have the right to raise an objection against specific processing of data. The objection will be reviewed by ING AKTYWA.
- c) From 25 May 2018 onwards, you will have the right to relocate the data or obtain a copy of the data – provided however that the right may not have negative influence onto the rights and freedoms of other persons, including business secrets or intellectual property, and that it will be exercised to a technically feasible extent. The first copy of the data is free of charge. Taking into account other provisions of the law, relocation of the data may require obtaining consent of the Client or another person, or fulfilment of other conditions required under those regulations. Requests concerning exercise of the rights of the Salesperson and/or the Salesperson's representative/contact person may be submitted electronically to bok@inglease.pl or in writing. Submission of such requests via telephone will be admissible as far as ING AKTYWA makes this process available for exercising the given right, taking into account requirements concerning verification of the Salesperson's identity. ING AKTYWA may require detailed identification of the information or activities covered by the request. While exercising the request concerning relocation or obtaining of a copy of the data, ING AKTYWA delivers the information with notification regarding the electronic format or carrier used.
- d) In case of conclusion of the agreement, furnishing of personal data is required for the conclusion thereof. Provisions of the law may introduce the requirement to furnish data in the purpose referred to therein (e.g. identification or verification). Moreover, furnishing of specific data may be required for execution of a specific transaction or activity. If the Salesperson does not provide the data required by the agreement or another document used by ING AKTYWA in accordance with its procedures or the law, ING AKTYWA will not conclude the agreement, execute the transaction or activity.
- e) Your personal data will not be processed in an automated manner or profiled.

X. Final provisions.

You have the right to withdraw the granted consents or authorisations regarding processing of personal data. This authorisation also concerns consents to processing of data by ING AKTYWA in marketing purposes or authorisations to furnish the data to another entity which you granted to ING AKTYWA in the past. Withdrawal of a given consent does not influence ING AKTYWA right to process the data in the purpose identified in this consent until withdrawal thereof. You may exercise the rights foreseen by the Regulation, including in particular the right to obtain a copy of the data, right to relocate the data, right to delete the data, right to restrict the data from 25 May 2018, i.e. from commencement of application of the Regulation – subject to the terms identified in the Regulation and in accordance with other provisions of the law.
